HOSPITAL INCORPORATORS

Elect Bishop-Elect John J. Nilan to the Board, to Succeed Late Bishop Hoyt,

The board of incorporators of St. Joseph's hospital met in the boardroom at the hospital Saturday ferenoon for the purpose of taking action relative to the amendment of the charter. In order that the board of directors may be increased.

At a recent meeting the board was increased by the addition of five members, but it was afterwards found that the action was illegal, as the charter expressly stipulated the number to be but twelve.

that a committee be appointed con-sisting of Jomes A. Shea, D. P. Dunn and Dr. John Weldon, to present amendments to the charter and the committee was instructed to so amend the charter that there will not be more than seventeen directors and also so that the board of incorporators shall comprise a quorum. The committee was instructed to prepare such amendments and submit them at a meeting of the board of incorporators for acceptance or rejection. It was then voted to hold a meeting of the board of incorporators Thursday morning at 10.20 o'clock to act upon the same.

In the event of the changes in the charter being adopted they will be filled with the secretary of state and committee was instructed to so amend

If you do not pay your poll tax something may happen to you! It has happened to several people during the last few days and it is going to happen to others who fail to heed a warning! Elbert L. Darble, collector of taxes, is on the trail of the men that do not fay when they ought to. Chief George M. Pilling is heiping him round up the delinquents. Instead of paying one dollar, the slow man may pay four or five or maybe more dollars. It all depends. The average last week was a little over four dollars. The 'Til be up and see you next week' promise does not go any more. It is a case of pay when we come after you now. The collector is not harsh in his methods. He has given all the men he is now after more than a fair chance to pay and they have falled to make good.

Was a Great Fox.

Was a Great Fox. Was a Great Fox.

The wonderful animal shot by Frank Pierce near the Rhode Island line Friday turns out to be a great fox. This was decided when the animal was brought here Saturday. It is nevertheless a very peculiar looking animal, different in color, form and other characteristics as compared to the native red fox, and these facts at first caused a conclusion that some quite remarkable kill had been made. The fox is of a type rarely seen in this section and has cat-like ears and plants.

NEW LONDON COUNTY POMONA Makes Return Visit to Quinebaus Pomona-An Interesting and Profit

What is termed a splendid meeting was held in Danielson Saturday, when New London County Pomona grang made a return visit to Quinebaug Pomona grange. There were more than 200 members of the two Pomona present about thirty-five coming from New London county.

The meeting was called to order about 16.35 by W. H. Barron of Daniel son, master of Quinebaug Pomona, the opening being in the fifth degree. After closing in the fifth the meeting was again opesed in the fourth degree. Then came the installation of the officers of Quinchaug Pomona, J. R. Sherwood of Easton being installing officer, assisted by Mrs. Addie Hyde of Brooklyn and Nelle Cleveland of Hampton. After the installation a recess was held, during which dinner was served at the Attawaugan hotel and at the rooms of the W. R. C.

The afternoon session, which included the lecturer's hour, was in charge of the officers of the visiting Pomona grange, Master E. P. Barnes presiding, and the treat they furnished was heartly appreciated. Lecturer G. Warren Davis had a fine list of numbers on his programme. The addresses were by Prof. Allen Latham of Norwich, president of the Connecticut Beekeepers' association; W. O. Rogers of Norwich, president of the Connecticut Poultry association, and a paper on "The Home" by Everett P. Barnes. Other speakers were State Master L. H. Healey of Woodstock, State Lecturer Sherwood, The music numbers, including vocal and piano soles and songs by the quarrette of the visiting grange, were excellent.

Big Hoot Owl Got Away.

Big Hoot Owl Got Away.

Friday evening, a little after dusk, a party of boys discovered a large hoot owl in one of the maple trees in front of A. A. Young's property. Air rifles were brought into use by the boys, with the result that the owl was driven from tree to tree only to finally disappear, his thick coat of feathers proving impervious to the air propelled buckshot. The heavy hemiock woods across from the Aspinock bleachery give shelter these wintermonths to several species of owls. They are the first bird to mate and lay eggs in this latitude. Nests have many times been found in these hemiock woods as early as the first week in March. The owl best known in this section and most often seen by hunters is the common hoot owl. Bubo Americanus. Barn owls are common; the little screech owl is to be met with in summer occasionally, but the black and white barred owl and the great horned variety seldom if ever visit these parts.
